1. Selecting the right calendar edition

Choose the correct edition of the calendar by clicking on the drop-down box at the right-hand side of the screen (Fig. A). Current undergraduate and graduate studies calendars appear in this list, as will archived calendars from 2013-14 onward. For archived undergraduate calendars from 1978-2014, please visit http://registrar.mcmaster.ca/undergraduate-calendar-archive. The main chapters of the calendar can be accessed from any page via the main navigation on the left-hand side of the screen (e.g. policies, courses, financial aid, etc.).

Fig. A (left): Select the calendar you want by clicking the drop-down box at the top left of the screen. The main navigation panel for the calendar is at the left-hand side of the screen.
2. Finding Program Requirements

There are several ways to determine program requirements in the McMaster calendar. You may search for a program using the Advanced Search field (Fig. B), by clicking on Programs available by Degree in the main (left) navigation (Fig. C), or by navigating first to a Faculty or department’s section that offers that particular program (Fig. D).

Fig. B (above): Click on Advanced Search at the left navigation, then enter the name of the program you are looking for in the keyword field. Be sure to check off ‘Programs’ in the search locations. In this example, all of the programs that contain ‘English’ in the program name will be displayed in the search results. This search also shows course results for the term ‘English’ as well.

Fig. C (left): Click on Programs Listings (by Degree) at the left navigation for an alphabetical list of all programs and minors available at McMaster, grouped by degree type.

Fig. D (right): Click on the Faculty name at the left navigation that offers the program that you are interested in. A list of that Faculty’s departments will be at the bottom of the screen. Click on the department and you will see a list of its programs.
2. Finding Courses (Descriptions/Requirements)
Clicking on Course Listings in the left navigation will return a list of all of the courses that are published in the Undergraduate Calendar. From this point, you can filter the results further by prefix (e.g. SOC WORK), by code (e.g. 2A03), by type (the subject name), or by keyword (Fig. E). Once the list of courses is displayed, click on the name of the course and the full description will expand. To collapse the description, click on the course title once again (Fig. F). Course descriptions can even be expanded from within program requirements (Fig. G, page 5).

Anthropology (010)
Courses in Anthropology are administered by the Department of Anthropology

Chester New Hall, Room 524, ext. 24123
http://www.anthropology.mcmaster.ca

Department Notes
1. Not all Anthropology courses listed in this Calendar are taught every year. Check the department’s webpage and the timetable which is published annually to determine whether a course is offered.
2. Registration in all courses with a code ending “D” is not possible. Independent study with an instructor; otherwise, no grade will be submitted. “Undergraduate Course Offerings” on the department website for further courses.
3. To identify Anthropology courses by discipline, students should refer to the Anthropology Subfields in the Department of Anthropology in the Faculty Calendar.

- ANTHROP 1A03 - Introduction to Anthropology: Sex, Food and Death
- ANTHROP 1F03 - Introduction to Anthropology: Identity, Race and Power
- ANTHROP 2A03 - The Anthropology of Food and Nutrition
- ANTHROP 3B03 - Indigenous Peoples of North America
- ANTHROP 2DN3 - Archaeology of Environmental Crisis and Response

BIOLOGY 3FF3 - Evolution

3 unit(s)
The major theoretical concepts and empirical findings in micro- and macro-evolution are surveyed.

Bachelor of Health Sciences (Honours) (B.H.Sc.)

Fig. G (left): Course descriptions can even be viewed from within program requirements sections. Simply click on the name of the course to expand the “tool tip” window.
4. Printing Pages from the Calendar

Each page of the calendar has a ‘printer friendly’ version that can be accessed by clicking the maroon printer icon at the top right of the page. This version of the page has limited graphic elements and has a simple design for easy printing (Fig. H). Also, within each set of program requirements, you may access a printer-friendly version of the requirements (and accompanying notes) that are designed to allow you to make hand-written notes after printing. Click on the icon depicting a sheet of paper for this Degree Planner feature (Fig. I). PDF versions of calendars from 1978-2014 may also be viewed at http://registrar.mcmaster.ca/undergraduate-calendar-archive.

5. Mobile Site
McMaster’s Undergraduate Calendar is also accessible by web-enabled mobile/handheld devices (i.e. tablets, smartphones, etc.). Visit http://m.academiccalendars.romcmaster.ca using your handheld device to view the mobile version of the site. Navigation in the mobile version is structured similar to the main navigation in the browser version, where you select different categories of calendar information.
